Presenting Author: [Name] Thematic Area: [Select primary thematic area]

Background / Research Problem (maximum 50 words): Replace these instructions with a concise description of the problem, research gap, or challenge being addressed and its relevance to renewable energy.

Objective / Research Question (maximum 30 words): Clearly state the objective(s) or research question(s) addressed by the study.

modelling framework, dataset, prototype, case study or analytical approach adopted.

Key Findings / Results (maximum 90 words): Present the principal findings or results. Wherever possible, provide quantitative results and clearly indicate the evidence generated by the study.

Novelty and Potential Application (maximum 60 words): Explain what is new or distinctive about the work and its potential application, scalability, deployment relevance, or contribution to India's renewable energy transition.

Keywords: Replace with 3–5 keywords.

References: Use brief numbered citations in the text, e.g., [1], [2]. List references in numerical order at the end of the abstract. References must be accommodated within the one-page limit.

Acknowledgements (if applicable): Funding support, institutional support, or other relevant acknowledgements may be included briefly and must remain within the one-page limit.

Graphical Abstract (Optional): You may include a graphical abstract within the one-page abstract, provided the complete submission remains within the prescribed page limit. The graphical abstract may illustrate the research workflow, technology/process, methodology, or key results.

INSERT GRAPHICAL ABSTRACT HERE

Recommended maximum dimensions: 16 cm (W) × 6 cm (H)

Minimum recommended resolution: 300 dpi

Formatting Instructions: The written abstract is limited to 300 words, excluding the title, author details, and keywords. The complete abstract, including any graphical abstract, must fit on ONE A4 PAGE. Use Times New Roman, 11 pt for body text, single line spacing, and the margins provided in this template. Do not alter the page size or margins. Figures or graphics, if used, must be inserted into this file and should be of sufficient resolution for clear reproduction. The completed template should be converted to PDF before submission.

Originality: Submissions should represent original research, technology development, applied innovation, or evidence-based capacity-building research undertaken by the applicant/team.
